Delhi, India's national capital is the city fusion of the myriad cultures of India. That is why, it is often referred to as the heart of India. Delhi has been the political hub of India.

The city has an amazingly rich history and culture. Noticeably, Delhi has always enjoyed the status of being a capital city. Many a times the city was built, destroyed and then rebuilt here. Interestingly, a number of Delhi's rulers played a dual role, first as destroyers and then as creators. All the rulers, from the early Muslim Sultans to the British, have left their indelible marks on this city in the form of its elegant monuments.

Top Tourist Attractions

Red Fort built by Shahjahan, the builder of Taj Mahal in Agra, named for its massive enclosing walls of red sandstone. The Red Fort is an iconic symbol of India. On the Independence Day, the Prime Minister of India hoists the national flag here.

India Gate is a memorial raised in honour of the Indian soldiers who died during the Afghan wars and World War I. The names of the soldiers who died in these wars are inscribed on the walls. The cenotaph (or shrine) in the middle is constructed with black marble and depicts a rifle placed on its barrel, crested by a soldier's helmet.

due to its distinctive lotus shaped design in Marble.
It was built in 1987 by the followers of Bahai faith.
The temple signifies the purity and equality of all religions.

Qutub Minar is an excellent example of Afghan Architecture. The Minar is 72.5mts high victory tower, the construction of which began in the final year of twelfth century by Qutubuddin Aibak and was later completed by his successor. It has been given World Heritage Site status.

Swaminarayan Akshardham in New Delhi epitomizes 10,000 years of Indian culture in all its breathtaking grandeur, beauty, wisdom and bliss. It brilliantly showcases the essence of India's ancient architecture, traditions and timeless spiritual messages.
