EDITORIAL

by Jim EASTON,
Président of the FITA

It was an honor to be elected President of FITA in Lausanne. The job is an important one for the future of archery.

FITA was fortunate to have Francesco Gnecchi-Ruscone as president for the last 12 years. His vision and creativity and his dedication to archery and the Olympic Movement has had an extremely positive effect on archery worldwide. Because of Francesco's visibility and influence we are closer to the Olympic movement than ever before. The FITA Standard Bow, the Development and Technical Assistance Committee, the compound bow in field and indoor archery, the new field round, and the equal sharing of Olympic TV rights money to all sports federations are some of the legacies Francesco has left to archery.

My goal will be continue our efforts to maintain and strengthen our position of our sport in the Olympic Games. We must work hard to have more countries participate in archery and join FITA. We must continue to keep close ties with the I.O.C. and other sports federations.

MESSAGE

by Francesco Gnecchi-Ruscone,
Honorary Life President of FITA

After twelve years as President of FITA I step aside and welcome on behalf of you all the new President you have elected: Jim Easton.

These twelve years, like the previous twelve years I spent as President of the National Archery Association of my country, have been an unforgettable experience, have marked my life.

You have given me the privilege of a leadership that was able at all times to count on common ideals, on the feeling that we were all joining our efforts for a common goal, on the awareness that I was truly representing you all. For this I shall be always grateful.

But even more I shall be grateful to you all for the pride I could feel in representing our sport, a Sport in which the moral qualities of elegance always shine at least as much as the advances of technical performance or the growth of our Archers and new National Member Associations.

I have felt that pride with special intensity on a few occasions when my words of praise for gestures of extraordinary fair-play, made in the heat of

The incomparable
Soo Nyung Kim

FITA has an opportunity to strongly promote its new field round and compound bow division. FITA can become the representative of all competitive archery if FITA field competition is promoted to field archers throughout the world. The opportunity for archers throughout the world to represent their country as members of their national team at the World Games and World Field Championships should be a strong inducement to be a part of FITA.

Francesco was elected Lifetime Honorary President of FITA in Lausanne. In this position he will help maintain our close relationship with the Olympic family and introduce your new president to those key relationships.

FITA archery has come a long way since 1972 but we must working to hold on to our progress. It will be difficult to equal Francesco's outstanding job as president, but you will have my best efforts.

tournaments at the highest level, met with astonished, uncomprehending stares ("What is he talking about?"), so much were those gestures taken for granted, as obvious and natural.

Special thanks I owe to all the Officials you elected to serve FITA with me over these past years. Not only did they give to FITA all their dedication and competence – and to me their friendship – but they all passed that most difficult of tests for an International Official: overcoming their National allegiances in order to think and act for the benefit of all.

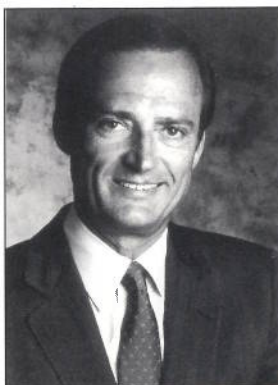

This is sometimes not easy: what may appear to some as unrenounceable or unavoidable technical progress is for others and in particular for the weaker Member Associations (that also tend to be less well represented in Council and Committees) as an unbearable economic burden, an obstacle to their growth, a handicap in their fair confrontation with the more fortunate countries.

Together we have achieved or started a great amount of reform; I know you will give Jim Easton the same support, loyalty and co-operation I have enjoyed; I know he has all the qualities that are needed to give FITA a bright future.

I remain one of you, an Archer. We shall meet again, as frequently as possible – I hope – on a shooting line.

All in the Gold, FITA!

F.G.R.

LAUSANNE NOTES

The XXXVth Outdoor Target Archery World Championships organized from 2nd to 9th July in Lausanne almost attained perfection. The organizers met every need to general satisfaction. The overall atmosphere was unceasingly marked by a spirit of friendship and co-operation that only sport can make possible. The weather conditions were perfect. The softness of the Vaudois summer enabled all the visitors to enjoy the beauties of Nature to be found by Lake Léman. The competitions were all at a standard never before reached. The decisions of the Congress will enable our sport to make further progress. Here, in brief, presented day by day, are the great moments of this week, momentous for archery throughout the world.

Sunday, 2nd July

At the end of the afternoon, the meeting of the team captains made it possible to ascertain the record participation of 40 Associations.

Monday, 3rd July

The sports complex of Chavannes on the edge of the new University of Lausanne was fully operational from the beginning of the morning, thus providing the best possible conditions for the competitors to carry out their official training. Nearly 80,000 square metres, absolutely flat, had been arranged to suit the most demanding, 25,000 square metres for competition and 25,000 for training. In an enormous tent were a restaurant and a relaxation area as well as a series of stands where one could find the latest novelties in archery, have one's photographs developed or pick up the latest news. AGF Gasser, Amerika Bogen, Athletic, Briter, Carbon, Easton Aluminium, Hoyt, Kodak, RobinSport and Yamaha were represented. For the sixty or so journalists present, certainly more than anywhere else, a pleasantly sited press centre, partly in the open air, was available. The quality of the news and the speed of its diffusion were noted by many.

At the end of the afternoon, the stands filled for the official opening. Teddy Bettex, a former archer and omnipresent President of the Organizing Committee, greeted the archers and the representatives of the political and local authorities. Achille Casanova, Vice-Chancellor of the Helvetic Confederation, and Paul-René Martin, Mayor of Lausanne, spoke next before the President of FITA invited the President of IOC to declare the XXVth Archery World Championships officially open. Señor Samaranch, in a very positive and open speech on future perspectives, emphasized that he had supported the FITA appeal for the definite retention of the team competitions in the Olympic Games. A decision will be taken during the summer in the course of the next session of IOC which is to be held in San Juan in Porto Rico.

After the speeches, four famous archers solemnly bore the FITA flag: Miss Kim Soo Nyung (KOR), the current Olympic champion, Jay Barrs (USA), the 1988 Olympic champion, Vladi-

Thanks to all these volunteers led by Rolf Dubath, the President of the Swiss Association, and Teddy Bettex, the President of the Organizing Committee mir Esheev (URS), the former world champion and Rick McKinney (USA), several times N° 1, filled this role with dignity. The flag was then raised to the sound of the FITA fanfare.

The sky was grey and low; the north wind blew; the archers retired for the last night before the competition opened. The next day the sun shone brilliantly and never abandoned them again.

Tuesday 4th July

On arriving at the range, everyone was able to obtain the first number of "Robin Hood News", a four-page newsletter which was to be published every day until the championships ended. Michelle Bohin, head of the "Media and Information" service and Daniel Wansner, a collector and enthusiastic historian and a member of the Archers d'Yverdon Club, together with their whole team, deserve our gratitude for this highly appreciated production. At 10.30, the first arrows were shot. Two days were allotted to the "Open" qualification contests. These competitions were held to select the best 24 male archers and the best 24 archers among the women for the 1/8 finals and to choose the best twelve teams for the semi-finals for both men and women's team events.

On the first day, every archer had 36 arrows to shoot over each of two long distances - 70 and 60 metres for the women and 90 and 70 metres for the men.

"Beware of the north wind" was the headline in the local morning paper. In fact, the wind was absent to everybody's relief. During the whole duration of the competitions, the conditions were ideal for the achievement of some astonishing performances. Two records were to fall during this first day. The two new records were set up by the gentle and elegant Kim Soo Nyung who scored 336 points at 70 metres and 347 points at 60 metres. All five records of the FITA Single Round category were set up by her. This exploit had never been achieved before in any archer's memory. In the men's competitions, Allen Rasor (USA) finished in the lead after this first day.

At the end of the afternoon, all those taking part, officials and journalists were invited to the opening of an exhibition on archery mounted at the IOC's Olympic Museum. Sculptures, bows ancient and modern, photographs of all the world champions since 1931 and an Olympic retrospective display had been put together. The hundred or so volumes forming the archery collection of the late Frederick G. Usher donated to FITA were officially handed to the IOC President to form a special section of the Olympic library (see FITA Bulletin N° 39 page 11).

Wednesday 5th July

The second day of the qualifications with the two short distances on the programme: 50 and 30 metres for both men and women. In the evening, the experts were to acclaim it as a great day for archery. Three new records were set up during it. The Soviet men's team scored 3963 against the 3957 marked up by the United States team, holder of this record since 1988. The Korean women's team shattered its own record by scoring 4025 points against the 3981 points obtained last year in the Seoul Olympic Games. Finally, the amazing Kim Soo Nyung finished her FITA Single Round with 1368 points, 16 points more than her previous record. Out of the 48 archers qualifying (24 men and 24 women), 21 National Associations were still represented which points to the progress being made everywhere by archery. The successful archers came from the following countries:

Women: KOR (4), USA (3), URS (3), POL & SWE (2) and 1 from each from CHN, FRG, GBR, HOL, HUN, INA, PHI, PRK, TPE and TUR
Men: USA (4), KOR & URS (3), AUS, FRA, FRG & GBR (2) and 1 each from BEL, CHN, FIN, HOL, IND and JPN

Eight countries were still represented by both men and women: CHN, FRG, GBR, HOL, JPN, KOR, URS and USA.

Seven countries were represented by women archers only: HUN, INA, PHI, POL, PRK, TPE and TUR

Six countries were represented by male archers only: AUS, BEL, FIN, FRA, IND and JPN.

16 men and 9 women finished with more than 1300 points. 27 men's teams out of the 32 taking part scored an average of more than 1200 points.

20 women's teams out of the 21 entered scored an average of over 1200 points. Never seen before!

Thursday 6th July

During the morning the 1/8 finals saw the elimination of six male and six female archers. Allen Raser (USA) won once again. A shoot-off was necessary to decide the winner of the 12th place. This was where Tomi Poikolainen (FIN) saved his championship. The Chinese Yucheng Mao was among those eliminated. Kim Soo Nyung ceded first place to her teammate Wang Hee Kyung.

15 National Associations were still represented in the quarter-finals.

These quarter-finals took place in the afternoon. Their purpose was to bring down from 18 to 12 the number of those qualified by categories. There were some great surprises. Among the men, only nine points separated the 4th archer from the 18th. Vladimir Esheev, the former champion, was eliminated with 323 points, coming only 16th. Allen Rasor was only 14th and left the competition like his fellow-countrymen the splendid Rick McKinney – after a shoot-off with Vadim Shikarev – and Christopher Yeoman (USA). The friendly pair T. Matsushita (JPN), 30 metres world record holder, and Tiny Reniers (HOL) also lost all hope at this stage. Among the women, Kim Soo Nyung took first place again, never again to lose it. The young Denise Parker (USA) seemed to be catching up on her match after match; she finished third. Debra Ochs (USA) had to go to a shoot-off to ensure her qualification against her fellow-countrywoman Kristin Schwartzkopf. Elena Tutatchikova (URS) and Jenny Sjowall (Swe) were among those eliminated.

Friday 7th July

In the morning the twelve men and the twelve women still in the competition faced each other in the semi-finals. Eleven nations were represented. The distribution of nationalities was as follows:

Women: KOR (4), URS & USA (2), 1 each from CHN, GBR, INA and SWE

Men: FRG, GBR, KOR and URS (2), 1 each from BEL, FIN, FRA and USA

One of the great favourites of the men's tournament disappeared: Jay Barrs (USA), reigning Olympic champion, finished a mere one point behind the last qualifying archer, once again Vadim Shikarev (URS). Three West Europeans went out: the British R. Priestman, the valorous Belgian R. Vandemeulebroeke and the French eye-opener Bruno Felipe.

Kim Soo Nyung confirmed her overwhelming superiority; she beat her nearest rival by nine points. D. Ochs, 9th, fell out, as did those after her, the slender Indonesian Saihan Nunfitriyana,

XXXVIIIth FITA CONGRESS

2nd and 8th July 1989, Lausanne, SUI

Sunday, 2nd July: the last Report of President Gnecci-Ruscione read in the presence of the IOC President

The President of FITA, Francesco Gnecci-Ruscione, not without some emotion since he had decided to retire after twelve years of presidency, opened the Congress. He noted with pleasure the record number of member Federations represented. Rudolph Dubach, President of the Swiss Archery Association, and responsible together with Teddy Bettex for the perfect organization of the meeting and the World Championships, then bid his colleagues welcome in the same of the host Federation. It was in the presence of His Excellency Señor Juan Antonio Samaranch, IOC President, that FITA's President presented his last report which was adopted to applause. The IOC President then addressed the assembly to remark on the progress made by FITA in recent years, particularly in connection with the adoption of the FITA Grand Round. He recommended that no effort be spared to improve the image of archery with the media and particularly with television. He confirmed that FITA's appeal for the retention of the team competition in the Olympic programme would be examined and he assured the President of his support in the presentation of this request.

Important decisions

The complete report of the Congress appears as an Appendix to this Bulletin. However, several points among the many decisions taken both on 2nd and 8th July are given here:

- adoption of new rules for field archery and indoor target archery; these texts should make these branches of the sport clearer, more intense and more spectacular;
- officialization of the compound bow for target archery as for field archery;
- creation of World Championships in Indoor Archery and Junior World Championships;
- cancellation of the FITA match by correspondence;
- enlarging of the list of world records;
- introduction of FITA arrow badges for the standard contest category;
- affiliation of four national Federations: Iraq, Lebanon, Liechtenstein and Nepal;
- attribution of the following championships:
 - 5th European and Mediterranean Target Archery Junior Championship for 1991 to Norway;
 - 5th European and Mediterranean Indoor Archery Championship, 21st to 29th February, 1991, to Oulu (FIN);
 - 13th World and 12th European and Mediterranean Field Archery Championship for 1991 to the Netherlands;
 - 11th Americas Outdoor Target Archery Championship for 1992 to Colombia;
 - 35th World Outdoor Target Archery Championship for 1993 to Antalya in Turkey.

Sunday, 8th July: Elections

Starting at 9.00, the delegates began work for the second day of the congress. A day of elections but also one of changes to the regulations. Until 17.00, the motions proposed were examined, discussed, amended and often accepted. The elections were then held. For the post of president, Jim Easton (USA), was overwhelmingly elected in the first ballot in preference to François de Massary (FRA). Elected for four years, he becomes the eighth President of FITA. He is assured of the support of his predecessor and a transition will never have taken place so easily. Beppe Cinnirella (ITA) and Giovanni Mangino (ITA) were immediately confirmed as FITA's Secretary General and Treasurer respectively. The headquarters remain in Milan (ITA). François de Massary and Stan Patterson (GBR) were re-elected to the vice-presidency for the period 1989-1993. Arseny Balov (URS), Leif Janson (SWE) and Don Stamp (GBR) were elected members of the Council for 1989-1993 and Knud Andresen (DEN) for 1989-1991. The new composition of the committees appears in this Bulletin.

Distinctions

Four plaques rewarding great workers for FITA and archery:

- the gold plaque to Robert Simon (FRA), Vice-President of FITA from 1971 to 1984;
- silver plaques to Juan Barrios (PUR), a highly esteemed judge, Konrad Aichenmüller (FRG), father of the German Archery Federation, and Gertrude Trepper (SUI) active for more than sixteen years in the Swiss Federation.

A fine page in the history of sporting archery was written in Lausanne on the shore of Lake Léman. Next meeting in two years' time in Cracow (POL) for another adventure.

the British Joanne Franks and the Korean Park Mi Kyung – though three other Korean women won through to the final! The afternoon produced the enthusiastically-awaited grand finale. Stanislav Zabrodsky (URS), who had already come second in the qualifying round, first in the eighth-final and in the quarter-final, once more produced proof of his superiority and took the greatest of the world records, that of the FITA Single Round which Darrel Pace (USA) had held for ten years. The latter, although not selected was present on the range, camera in action; he warmly congratulated his successor in accordance with the traditions of fair-play which run through archery. For second place, a shoot-off between three archers enabled the British Steve Hallard to take the silver medal and the Finnish Tomi Poikolainen to obtain the bronze medal by beating the younger but less experienced Andreas Lippoldt (FRG). Six points only separated the 7th archer from the 2nd. Kim Soo Nyung made short work of her rivals. She led by seven points over her fellow-countrywoman Kim Kyung Woog who was obliged to take part in a shoot-off with D. Parker to win the second place. Petra Eriksson (SWE) with her infectious high spirits was the surprise performer of the tournament; she was placed eighth in it after being sixth in the eighth-, quarter- and semi-final.

Saturday 8th July

The day of team competitions, Saturday also provided a really beautiful spectacle. The women's competition was open and fierce – especially for the second place after the Koreans – a long way after – and so was the men's competition. In the morning the British, Dutch, Federal German and the French women's teams were beaten as were the Belgian, Dutch, Australian and Polish men's teams.

The Soviet archers and the Korean women archers, in the lead after the semi-finals, proved their superior worth in the finals. The Swedish women archers, 4th on qualification, 5th in the semi-finals, snatched second place by one point from the Soviet ladies' team thanks to a fantastic performance by the young P. Eriksson.

After so many moments of joy and suspense, the time for emotion was not yet over. As if to mark the end of the competitions, the sky clouded over a little before the closing ceremony. This latter was simple but bright and cheerful. Francesco Gnecci-Ruscione gave his last speech as President of FITA to his cherished archers whom he thanked for the example that it should never cease to bear witness to the beauties of their sport. A long standing ovation greeted the departure of the President who for twelve years contributed so greatly towards modernizing one of the oldest and finest human activities and transforming it into a spectacular sport, as exciting for the competitor as it is for those watching.

◀ Thank you, President

IIIrd WORLD GAMES

FIELD ARCHERY AT THE 3rd WORLD GAMES

by Nikola Skoric, president of the Field Archery Committee and FITA Vice-President

For all those who took part, the World Games will remain an unforgettable experience. For the second time, archery appeared in the programme of these Games and aroused the interest of both the public and the media. A great part of this success was due to Ewald Gerbert, FITA's technical delegate and his associates, as well as to Klaus-Dietrich Schulz, a FITA official, who laid out the range with the aid of the very highly skilled team of the Federal Republic of Germany's Archery Federation. The weather conditions were excellent. 92 archers and 7 judges took part in the competitions: 12 women and 23 men in the bare bow category; 21 women and 35 men in the free style events. 18 Federations had entered competitors. The range on the Turnberg ground was magnificent without any dangerous areas. The targets were of high quality; for this reason, the panel of judges, headed by Mrs Jenneke Reijers-Visser, had hardly any difficulty in planning the ideal course.

Competitors, accompanying officials and organizers were accommodated in the Schoeneck Sports School whose pleasant surroundings helped to create a friendly atmosphere for everybody completely in accordance with the very spirit of the World Games. On 20th July all the archers took part in the official opening of the Games before the 6000 spectators gathered in the Europahalle. On this occasion, the IOC President, Juan Antonio Samarach, declared "Karlsruhe will be a turning-point for the World Games". On the 21st, official training and inspection of equipment took place. The next day was given over to the Hunters' Round at unknown distances and the 23rd to the Field Round at known distances. The Frenchwomen, in perfect form, took the prizes for both these events. Nadine Visconti with the bare bow was the best performer on the first and second days; she left the World Champion Giuseppina Meini (ITA) with 67 points. Clara Admiraal (HOL) took the bronze medal to general surprise. Catherine Pellen (FRA), second in the free style event the first day then third in the field round, was the winner since Judy Adams

(USA) had a bad second day. But what a contest! See for yourself: the second, third and fourth competitors marked up 903, 902 and 901 points. This deserved a follow-up! The World Championship title holder, Liselotte Svensson (SWE), had to be content with the fifth place.

As to the men, in the bare bow event, Stephane Legrand (FRA) was the surprising leader on the first day with the excellent total of 431 points but he only finished in seventh place. Wolfgang Sedmark (AUT) had to come out on top so that his wife should not be the best archer in the family. He was consistent: first in the known distances round and second in the unknown distances round, though Jarmo Hilli (FIN) was second and Cesare Rampi (ITA) third, they scored the same number of points. Jarmo makes a speciality of this position since he was second in the World Championships in 1988. The free style competition gave rise to drama. Francis Notenboom (BEL), first in the hunters' round, succeeded in carrying off the first prize thanks to his second result in the field round. Jay Barrs (USA) almost succeeded in his bid to win a gold medal at the World Games after winning a title in the Olympic Games. He finished second and declared "I'm satisfied with this result since I never shoot at unknown distances".

During a splendid ceremony at which the names of the winners were announced, the medals were presented by Rolf Noess, Secretary General of the International World Games Association (IWGA) and by the writer as Vice-President of FITA. On this occasion, on behalf of everybody concerned, I thanked the organizers warmly for the splendidly successful result of their work.
